

For those customers that are looking for extended “peace of mind”, and trouble-free service life, we offer a special extended warranty.

Our industry standard warranty for materials and workmanship is one year. A copy of this warranty is available upon request. We also now offer the end user an extended warranty on FRP corrosion resistant composite equipment; including pipe, duct, tanks, stacks, and specialty fabrications.

As with other types of process equipment; and as also is the common practice for consumer products and equipment, at the time of the order, an additional or extended warranty can be purchased. This warranty is available at the nominal cost of 7% per year of the total order value, with a minimum warranty cost of $3,300.00.

The warranty cost is not charged on freight, tooling, or the initial field service and training costs. The warranty percentage is based upon the initial value of the order, before any prompt payment discounts.

This extended warranty also includes a free jobsite inspection at the end of each year of the extended warranty by one of our experienced field service supervisors. With an extended warranty, at the time of the inspection, any warranty repairs will be provided at no additional cost to the client. Any non-warranty repairs and additional remedial work, as requested by the end user, will be performed at the field service rates in effect at that time.

As always, you can count on Industrial Fiberglass to be the “innovator” - in not only new technology, materials, and equipment for turnkey projects - but, also in providing the additional “comfort” of an extended warranty to the customer.
